19 As the Commissioners have agreed to the revision, the proposal may, if approved, be sanctioned.

20 At the instance of the Residency Surgeon, the Commissioners have proposed an amendment of Section 9 of the Vaccination Act. ~~The~~ the Section as it at present stands, limits the age of vaccination to six months & fixes the maximum age for compulsory vaccination to 14 years in the case of boys & 8 years in the case of girls. For the reasons advanced in pages 3 & 4 of Sl. N. 6. 18, Dr. Williams recommends that the age of vaccination be be reduced to three months & the maximum age be fixed to 14 years for both boys & girls. The Commissioners have recommended the proposed amendment

21. If the Resident be disposed to recommend the proposed amendment of Section 9, a corresponding amendment should also be proposed in respect of Section 17 & Section 21, clause (a) paragraph 2.

22. Section 9 provides that an unprotected child may be taken or cause it to be taken to a vaccinator to be vaccinated. Such a step taken in respect of a Hindu girl between 12 & 14 years of age may not be quite agreeable to her parent. If it is submitted, her parent. In her eighth year the girl is comparatively young & her parents will not object to her being taken to be vaccinated. The limit of three months as the age of vaccination seems also to require consideration.

untenable inasmuch as that proposal, long as this Hospital Assistant remains a "lent" officer, his services may at any time be applied for desirable in the interests of the

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt this day of your letter No 140 dated the 16th instant with enclosures, requesting me to report to you as to the advisability of increasing the present staff of Vaccinators working in the Civil and Military Station Municipality: in reply I would beg to offer the following observations thereon.

2. In order to give due effect to the provisions of the Vaccination Act, recently extended to Bangalore, under which a set of bye-laws has been formulated, I am of opinion for its efficient working it is absolutely necessary that two vaccinators should be added to the present staff, of whom one might with advantage be a female, the whole to work under a trustworthy and well paid Inspector of Vaccination.

3. It is needless to say that the Inspector should thoroughly understand his work in all its branches, the inoculation of animals, and be able to keep up a supply of animal lymph when required; in fact if I remember rightly the by-laws above referred to provide for this as well as empowering him to institute legal proceedings against persons infringing its terms. Experience has also shown the utter uselessness of merely employing additional vaccinators in the absence of a properly qualified Inspector and if a competent man cannot be procured on reference to the Vaccine department either at Madras or Bombay I would suggest that an hospital assistant be applied for to the Madras Government and deputed to learn the work.

4 In connection with this I would invite attention to this office No. 36 dated the 17th May 1884 in which similar recommendations were made, as I feel satisfied had they then received the consideration which they merited, the present lamentable outbreak of small pox would, in all probability, never have occurred. I cannot therefore too strongly urge that immediate effect be given to the representations herein made and as a tentative measure I would recommend for the post of female vaccinator one Mrs J. Phillips whose testimonials etc, showing an experience of over ten years in the Vaccination department are registered in my office

5. It may not perhaps be out of place here to explain that the establishment of an hospital assistant for special duties and which system has been in force for the past five years arose out of a general reluctance on the part of those suffering from infectious diseases to go for treatment to temporary hospital sheds which had been erected and provided with all necessary requirements for their convenience and segregation outside and at a safe distance from the Station; for the foregoing reasons therefore it has not since been thought desirable to incur the expenditure of opening starting such camps.

6. In view therefore to ensuring as well as facilitating the movements of the hospital assistant in his house to house inspection of cases of small pox scattered over the town I would recommend that in a special case he be granted a pukka allowance not exceeding Rs 15 per mensem during the prevalence of the disease.

With regard to the vacancy caused by the transfer of Lakha Singh, application will need to be made to the Madras Government for the services of a junior third class hospital assistant, who will be considered supernumerary to the permanent establishment of the Bowring Civil Hospital.
